Bennett Buried At Washington WhileStormRaged

Worst April Storm of Years Descends on National Capital as Officials and Civilians Pay Tribute to North Pole Pilot.

Washington, April 28 (AP).—Floyd Bennett, who died trying to succor the brave of his own adventurous calling, rested in the peaceful embrace of Arlington National Cemetery today, beneath a storm-swept slope reserved for heroic dead.

Three daring European airmen, in whose behalf the intrepid American naval aviator sacrificed a life ephemeral, stood ready to do their comrade the honors denied them at interment only because the elements, which they ignored in successfully spanning the Atlantic in westward flight, had balked their efforts to complete, by air, the much shorter trip from Canada here for the services.

They reached here from New York, where their flight was interrupted, last night and today planned to lay wreaths on the Bennett grave and return immediately to New York.

Storm Rages During Burial.

During one of the worst April rain and wind storms ever to descend upon the National Capital, Bennett, the sailor-aviator, was laid to rest just before dusk yesterday on a steep hillside across the Potomac that faces the Pole he was first to conquer by airplane, with Commander Byrd.

As the nation mourned and high government officials and officers of the Army and Navy stood by with the widow in a cold, drenching rain, the body of the 38 year old aeronaut and machinist was lowered in a grave close to that of Admiral Pearry, first man ever to attain the Arctic summit.

Accorded Full Military Honors.

Full military honors were accorded the airman, who, though humble in rank, stood high in the hearts of his countrymen, and fellow fliers as a man of courage, dauntless spirit, and untiring energy in the pursuit of aviation knowledge.

Three volleys from Naval rifles and muffled "Taps" from a sailor's bugle were his requiem. A battalion of Bluejacket comrades were his last escort.

President Sends Wreath.

A roped enclosure a stone's throw from the tomb of the Uuknown Soldier in front of Arlington amphitheatre, encircled the grave where hundreds had gathered long before the last rites despite a downpour that swept the cemetery with increasing fury as the evening wore on. Wreaths were piled high on the grave itself, among them one from President and Mrs. Coolidge.

A Navy band with quiet refrain signalized the approach of the body from its long journey from Quebec. A motor hearse had taken it on its arrival at the depot and while the military procession did not begin until the Arlington gates were reached, high officials of the Army and Navy and other government departments met the funeral party there. Naval petty officers transferred the casket from the train shed to the hearse and the long journey through the wet streets of the city to the hills south of the Potomac was begun.

Military Escort to Grave.

At the cemetery gates, through which many a gallant who made history for his country had preceded him, Bennett's comrades in column formation, with the band and a little group of fellow fliers who flew here from Hampton Roads, formed the military escort to the grave.

Rain beat down mercilessly as the procession swung into the half mile journey. A sodden flag was draped over the casket as it was transferred from the hearse to an Army gun caisson. Behind, Admiral Hughes, chief of Naval operations; Assistant Secretary Warner, representing Secretary Wilbur, and diplomats and federal dignitaries rode in automobiles.

The simple rites at the grave were pronounced by the Rev. E. L. Smith of Norfolk, pastor of the church of which Bennett was a member. Senior Chaplain Dickins of the Navy assisted.

Just before the arrival of the cortege, Secretary Hoover and air attaches of the British and Spanish embassies made their way to the grave to pay their respects

Byrd Among the Mourners.

Behind the clergymen, in a little space that sheltered only partially a little group of mourners, stood Mrs. Bennett, leaning heavily on the arm of a Naval officer. Close by was a man bidding a last farewell to a comrade in whose hands he had placed his life in the dash for the Pole and who was prepared to renew this faith at the earth's southernmost extremity had Bennett lived. He was Commander Byrd, who rushed to Bennett's bedside in Canada when he was stricken with pneumonia, and was among the last to leave his grave.

Rifles Ring Final Salute.

As the last prayer was said, a command brought the rifles to "Present arms" on the slope nearby, and a moment later, as the rattle of breech locks broke the stillness, three volleys rang out their final salute.

Then, the bugle was raised, and in slow notes pierced the mist with the familiar soldier and sailor lullaby.

As the last of the rain-soaked hundreds wended away to waiting cars, the widow walked slowly to the grave, bent forward, and laid her own tribute of flowers upon it.

B'way Crossing And New Lights Are Discussed

Central Business Association Hears City's New Street Lighting System Will be Ready May 15—Event May be Celebrated—To Attend Elimination Hearing.

Two important matters came up for discussion and action at the meeting of the Central Business Association on Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Broadway. The first was a communication from the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation stating that Kingston's new street lighting system would be turned on for the first time on May 15, and that the event would probably be celebrated appropriately. A committee was appointed from the association to meet with the other business associations of the city and cooperate in staging a celebration if it was decided to hold one. The other matter was the Broadway railroad crossing elimination hearing and the legislative committee were instructed to appear at the hearing and represent the Central Business Association.

Another important matter was the final plans for the opening of the baseball season by the Centrals, representing the association, and an account of what action was taken will be found elsewnere.

New Lighting System.

Charles A. Lasher, division commercial manager of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, sent the following communication to the association: "The new street lighting system is about completed, with the exception of some special equipment to be used in connection with its operation which has not yet arrived but we have been promised that this equipment will be received within a short period of time and that the new street lights will be ready to be turned on for the first on May 15. This is a tentative date, however, but we feel that if nothing unforeseen prevents they will be ready at that time.

"Thinking possibly that the citizens of Kingston might be interested in some form of celebration for this event, we are bringing this matter to the attention of the various business organizations in the city of Kingston that we thought might be interested in planning some program. We will be very glad to lend our assistance in such an undertaking if your organization and other organizations are interested."

Appoints Committee.

Dr. Morton Lown, president of the association, appointed a committee which will work with any committee that any other organization may appoint to arrange for the suggested celebration if it was decided to stage one to mark the event of turning on the new street lighting system.

The Broadway Crossing.

William O'Reilly, treasurer of the association, called attention to the Broadway crossing elimination hearing to be held in Kingston on May 17, and believed it would be a wise idea to have the legislative committee of the association appear at the hearing representing the association. Mr. O'Reilly said that speaking personally he did not favor the lowering of Broadway but did favor the lowering of the railroad tracks. His motion that the legislative committee appear at the elimination hearing representing the Central Business Association was unanimously adopted.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the meeting then adjourned.

Weather Forces Ford Plane Down

Miller Field, N. Y., April 28 (AP).—The Ford tri-motored plane which left Curtiss Field this morning for Washington landed here less than an hour later on account of unfavorable weather conditions. Bernt Balchen, the pilot, and Richard G. Brophy, personal representative of Commander Richard E. Byrd, were undecided whether to continue to Washington or return to Curtiss Field.

Later the plane was placed in a hangar for the day when it was learned that the fliers would return by train. The fog was too heavy to risk a 20-minute flight back to Mitchel Field, where the plane took off this morning.

Leave Washington By Train.

Washington, April 28 (AP).—The crew of the Bremen, which came here last night to lay wreaths on the grave of Floyd Bennett, paid their tribute today and left Washington by train for New York. They departed at 1:05 p. m., in a special car attached to a Pennsylvania railroad train.

Compston Conquers Hagen.

Moor Park, England, April 28 (AP).—Playing phenomenal golf Archie Compston, British professional, conquered Walter Hagen in their 72-hole match for £750, beating him on the first hole of their fourth round today, 18 up and 17 to play.

Snow, Wind, Flood In Southern States

Clearing Weather and Low Temperatures Follow Devastating Storms—Six Foot Snow Drifts in Shenandoah Valley.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28 (AP).—An apprehensive south took advantage of clearing weather today to survey the havoc wrought over a forty-eight hour period of wind storms, snow and minor floods that, falling just short of disaster, left unseasonably low temperatures in their wake.

Frost was feared in the fruit belts of North Carolina and Georgia, an eventuality that might involve millions of dollars damage, and, at many points in the affected area, bottom land crops were menaced by high water.

Snow fell in the mountains of eastern Kentucky and North Carolina yesterday, and the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, ordinarily dressed in apple blossoms at this time of the year, was buried under twelve inches of snow with drifts reaching six feet in the highways.

Wind storms from the Gulf struck Florida north of Tampa and traversed the state in less than two hours, emerging on the east coast near Daytona Beach. It was more than twelve hours, however, before the 150 mile area was again in communication with the world and it had been learned that four persons had been killed, two boys and a man, by live wires, and a negro by the collapse of his home.

At Jackson, Miss., two were injured and $50,000 property damage caused by high winds.

Forty Families Homeless.

Forty families were left homeless when a wind-lashed blaze swept the village of Adamsville, Ala., 12 miles from Birmingham. One man was killed by a live wire at Florence, Ala., and most of the highways in the southern part of the state were still impassable because of floods earlier in the week.

The most serious flood situation remained in Georgia with the population of West Bainbridge prepared to flee as Flint river rose to unprecedented heights. In Arkansas main levees on the White River threatened to collapse, menacing a wide area of newly planted crops. At Caryville, Fla., the 600 residents of the flood-swept town were preparing to return to their homes despite warnings that the menace had not entirely passed.

Clear weather and rising temperatures were forecast for the entire south over the week-end.

14 Inch Snowfall In Pennsylvania

Winter Flare-Back Blocks Highways and Stalled Motorists Call for Help—Gale and Rain in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, April 28 (AP).—State highway snow plows, which had been put away for the winter, were out in force today, clearing roads blocked by a heavy April snow storm. In some places the snow was 14 inches deep.

Driven by a high wind, the winter flare-back piled up huge drifts, retarding highway and railroad traffic and interfering with wire communication. In many parts of the state, fruit trees are in full bloom and early vegetables are peeping through the earth, but it is not believed they were seriously damaged, for at no place was the temperature reported below freezing.

Western and central Pennsylvania appeared to have been hardest hit by the storm, which started early last night and continued for several hours. In most places the snow had turned to rain today, aiding the highway forces in opening the roads.

Cresson reported 14 inches of snow, Greensburg eight and Altoona six inches. Calls for help were sent out by a number of tourists along the William Penn highway between Ebensburg and Altoona whose automobiles were stalled in deep drifts. The Lincoln highway was blocked in places between Jennerstown and Bedford.

In the eastern part of the state Pottsville reported nearly three inches of snow, while Stroudsburg and Bloomsburg also reported heavy falls. Paoli, 20 miles west of this city, was the southeastern limit of the snow storm. That town reported about an inch.

Rain driven by a gale that whistled with the intensity of a mid-winter blizzard fell in Philadelphia throughout the night. Numerous minor traffic accidents, due to the storm, were reported and some damage was recorded in several sections of the city.

Daylight Saving Starts on Sunday

Daylight saving time goes into effect in Kingston and other Hudson river cities on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. Residents should not forget to turn the hands of the clock an hour ahead before retiring for the night tonight.

Reception to Pastor and Wife

The reception tendered the new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Vradenburg, and the Rev. Mr. Shahan, newly appointed district superintendent, and his daughter, by the congregation of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church at Epworth Hall Friday night was largely attended. A delightful program was enjoyed after which delicious refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Rev. George L. Witney, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church on Wurts street, made the address of welcome to the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Vradenburg in behalf of the Clinton Avenue M. E. congregation. He informed the newly appointed pastor of the hearty cooperation his congregation lends in supporting their minister and also assured the Rev. Mr. Shahan, who recently assumed the office of district superintendent, that those under his jurisdiction would put forth every effort to cooperate with him. Mrs. Shahan, who was to have accompanied her husband and shared in the welcome extended by the Clinton Avenue congregation, was unable to attend.

The Rev. Mr. Vradenburg in brief but pointed remarks expressed his realization of the important mission he has been appointed and promised that he will give of his best in fulfilling his pastoral duties. He told with pleasure of his being born in southern Ulster county and that he is happy to be back in his native district again. The speaker said he is proud to be the pastor of a church so near the farm house upon which he spent his boyhood days.

After an address by the Rev. Mr. Shahan, in which he expressed his appreciation for the cooperation extended him, the Rev. Lucas Boeve, D. D., pastor of the First Dutch Church, spoke in behalf of the clergymen of the city in welcoming the Rev. Mr. Vradenburg and the Rev. Mr. Shahan. Among the clergymen present were the Rev. George L. Tremaine Warns Town Officials

State Comptroller Has Power to Bring Action on Bond of Town Officials Who Profit in Highway Work.

Albany, April 28 (AP).—Describing certain practices of supervisors and town superintendents of highways in the disbursement of highway funds as contrary to law, State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine today made public a letter to town officials warning them that it is within his power to bring action on the bond of a town officer if he "fails to faithfully disburse or account" for money received from the state.

The comptroller's letter was prompted by what he said was an indiscriminate transfer of town funds and disregard of law through making payments to a town officer for the hire of machinery or teams for which the officer contracted himself.

"To make payment for the purchase or hire of a motor truck, teams or other equipment or materials furnished by a public officer—this includes all members of the town board and town superintendent—is unlawful," wrote Mr. Tremaine. He called attention to a section of the penal law forbidding a public officer to profit by his acts other than salaries, fees and allowances fixed by law.

"The court has held that the officer was personally liable for the amount involved and required the money to be restored to the town," Mr. Tremaine said.

Texas Governor Opposed to Smith

Austin, Texas, April 28 (AP).—Governor Dan Moody has declined to seek a place among the eight Texas delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention at Houston, as suggested by state managers of the Presidential campaign of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York.

"I am not a supporter of Governor Smith, am opposed to his nomination and have no place among his supporters," the youthful Texas governor said on his return from a Democratic conference at Dallas. "I feel certain this state will not go for Governor Smith in the primaries, May 5, and if it should the place belongs to someone else."

Governor Moody is recognized as the leader of the State Democratic faction seeking a "bone dry" plank in the national party platform.

Benedictine Campaign To Follow Y.M.C.A. Drive

Philip Elting, Chairman, Defers Benedictine Appeal In View of the Y.M.C.A. Current Expense Drive—Postponed to Period Beginning May 25 and Ending June 4—Celebrate National Hospital Day, May 12.

The Hon. Philip Elting, who recently accepted the chairmanship of the General Committee in charge of the 25th Anniversary Celebration and Appeal for the Benedictine Hospital announced this morning that in view of the impending campaign of the Y. M. C. A. he had decided to postpone the Benedictine Appeal to the period beginning next May 25 and ending June 4.

"I feel," said Mr. Elting, "that having already waited for approximately a year the Benedictine Hospital will not be injured seriously in waiting a little longer, and in permitting the Y. M. C. A., which is all set for its annual current expenses campaign, to complete that movement. It is a little unfortunate that we cannot stand by the dates originally recommended at the Citizens' Meeting at the hospital recently, but if we did I can see that the Benedictine Campaign would seriously interfere with the Y. M. C. A. and vice versa. Therefore we will wait.

"In view of the fact that this is the first organized appeal of the Benedictine Hospital in 25 years I and those who are associated with me in the effort to relieve it of debt are anxious for an united community and an opportunity to present the cause of the hospital in circumstances not conflicting with any other organization."

Asked how soon he would announce his appointments to the various committees of the Benedictine organization, Mr. Elting said: "I am working on that now. I do not expect to announce the membership of the General Committee until I have personally pledged its members to active support. I have talked to about 100 persons already, and am happy to say that I have not yet met with a single refusal. Everyone I ask seems to feel as I do, that Kingston and Ulster county have benefited greatly by the investment of money and 25 years of services of the Benedictine Sisters; and that we should have a big and influential organization to pull for the institution when the time comes for us to begin the drive."

On account of the postponement of the appeal to May 25 the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital have arranged to carry the program celebrating National Hospital Day on May 12. That occasion will be purely of a celebration nature, and coming this year on the date of the 25th Anniversary of the Founding of the institution, it will be more pretentiously observed than heretofore.

Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman, chairman of the Executive Committee in charge of the celebration, and Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, stated that the general public in all sections of Ulster county will be invited to the celebration.

The robbers fled, leaving Esau to die on the drug store floor while two clerks in a rear room struggled to release themselves from bonds tightened about their hands and feet by the robbers. Passers-by who heard the shots gave the alarm.

Dairy League For Farm Bill

The various groups of farmers producing the major farm crops of the United States have such a community of interest that anything that helps one helps all—anything that injures one injures all.

Therein lies the reason for the support of the McNary-Haugen bill by the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., according to an article appearing in the current issue of the Dairymen's League News. In explanation the article says:

"Unless the prices of cotton, corn, hogs, wheat and other cereals are stabilized on a higher price level many farmers now producing those commodities will shift their production to dairy products, thus creating a large exportable surplus of dairy products, which will depress prices in this country to the level of world prices. This shift to dairy products is already quite noticeable in some sections.

"It is the exportable surpluses, coupled with the fact that farmers producing other major crops are not yet sufficiently organized into large cooperative selling associations that causes the present depression in the prices of other crops."

On this point the article quotes John D. Miller, president of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation, as saying:

"The solidarity of American agriculture is such that no one large group of farmers can be permanently prosperous and another large group permanently depressed. This will continue to be so as long as so many farmers can either diversify their production or change entirely from the production of one major crop to that of another.

"If at any time one of the major farm crops is sold at prices that make the production thereof more profitable than the production of some other of the major crops, there will be a swing from the production of one to the other, and this will continue until the increased supply of one and the decreased supply of the other bring their prices back to a relative level.

"Among farmers everywhere there is a growing recognition of the fact that as the producers of cotton, wheat, corn, hogs and cattle are now most severely depressed, and when there is a substantial unanimity of opinion among the producers of these commodities as to needed remedies all farmers should give great weight to such opinion."

The article points out that the present McNary-Haugen bill differs in many respects from earlier drafts. It says that the bill is now supported by many of the leading cooperative marketing associations handling cotton, wheat, corn, hogs and cattle, as well as the American Farm Bureau Federation and the New York State Farm Bureau. This bill, says the article, promises a greater measure of agricultural relief than any of the other bills on the subject.

"Purpose of the bill is to promote the orderly marketing of agricultural commodities in interstate and foreign commerce and to prevent surpluses from unduly depressing prices," says the League News. "A Federal Farm Board is to be created and an appropriation made to be administered by the Farm Board as a revolving fund; part to be loaned to cooperative marketing associations to finance their usual business, and part to be loaned to a cooperative association with which the Board may contract to handle the general surpluses produced by farmers who are not members of the cooperative associations.

"If no cooperative marketing association is found willing to contract with the Farm Board to buy, hold and sell such general surpluses then the Board may contract with other agencies. The underlying principle of these provisions is that both seasonal and annual surpluses shall be bought, stored and sold so that they will not unduly depress the prices of the entire crop.

"In brief, the bill is designed to do what would be done by cooperative marketing associations if farmers were now in sufficient numbers organized into large and powerful cooperative organizations. Opponents of the bill charge that the plan is not workable. This is always the cry when farmers are trying to better their condition by adopting necessary methods. It has been said that this is a price fixing measure. It is not. It is designed merely to create conditions that would permit farmers to have an influential voice in fixing the prices of their products.

"Those opposing the bill urge that it will injure eastern dairy farmers by increasing the costs of dairy feeds. When dairy farmers were trying to outlaw filled milk cotton farmers were told that it would decrease the demand for their cotton seed oil entering into such filled milk. Oleomargarine manufacturers make the same argument. The cotton farmers were too wise to be mislead. They recognized that the raise in the price of dairy products as a result of outlawing filled milk would benefit all farmers, themselves included."

JAPAN GOOD MARKET FOR NOISY MUSIC

Berlin, April 28 (AP).—Japan knows much more about contemporaneous German composers, especially those with a penchant for cacophony, than do the Germans themselves.

This unusual statement is made by Director H. Gebhard of the German Grammophone Company.

"Our best market for ultra-modern offerings is Japan," he says. "In Germany, Paul Hindemith, Arnold Schoenberg, Ernst, Krenek, Alban Berg, or Kurt Weill records have but moderate sales; in Japan we sell them by the thousand.

"I explain it this way: The Japanese is keen on everything modern, he wants to be absolutely up-to-date. Now, he reads about the new school of musical composition, and immediately orders records illustrating it. As his ear is differently attuned from ours, he has none of the inhibitions to overcome which hinder the European from accepting new combinations of sounds and new conceptions of harmony easily.

"The average Japanese consequently knows the German modernists much better than do the Germans themselves."

GERMANS ANTIDOTE FOR AIR SICKNESS

Berlin, April 28 (AP).—Air sickness, cousin to sea sickness, need no longer haunt the dreams of the airplane passenger, starting from Europe's largest airdrome, Tempelhof Field, Berlin.

The Tempelhof officials have installed an apparatus for inhaling antiair-sickness fumes, and are convinced that it is a success. They feel confident that other airdromes of the Lufthansa (German Federal Airways Corporation) will emulate the example of the Berlin flying field.

Any passenger who fears that he may become airsick, may inhale the antidote, which consists in the main of oxygen gas and cinnamon. The mixture has a quieting effect upon the nerves of the diaphragm.

Air passengers who arrived at Tempelhof quite ill from air sickness were brought back to a normal condition within less than five minutes through the inhalation of the antidote. It is planned in due time to have an inhalation apparatus installed in every passenger plane with tubes running to every seat.

Grade School Concert Enjoyed

Spring Concert by Pupils of Grade Schools Pleased Large Audience at High School Friday Evening—The Complete Program.

The Kingston High School auditorium was filled Friday evening with the parents and friends of the children of our grade schools who took part in the spring concert under the direction of Leonard H. Stine, director of music of the public schools, and his able assistant, Miss Anna D. Quimby, with Miss Mildred Haas at the piano. Quite an elaborate program, including three pretty operettas, had been carefully and enthusiastically prepared, and was very well rendered throughout. Between the operettas the Grade School Orchestra played remarkably well, opening the program with a march-like number, "Boys' Brigade", by Percy Wenrich. The children held well to pitch, and after a bit got admirably into the swing of the rhythm, playing with spirit.

One of the prettiest and most cunning performances given in Kingston in some time was "Mother Goose's Garden", by A. Nixon, with the singers and actors taken from Grades I, II, III and IV. Their voices were sweet and true and they looked like spring posies in their dainty flower caps. The raindrops carried transparent top balloons and the sunbeams, bees, butterflies and bluebirds were just as fascinating as the flowers. Mother Goose and all of her cast of characters were just as they are in the book, and it was they who introduced the flower choruses. The children sang entirely from memory, very sweetly and happily, and were heartily applauded.

The Minuet from Mozart's "Don Juan", was a pretty ambitious number for the boys and girls of the orchestra to tackle, but they measured up to this classic very well.

The second operetta, "Boy Bandits", by O. M. Carrington, was in marked contrast to the first one, and everybody liked it for the lads entered into it with fine spirit. They were from Grades V, VI, VII and VIII. Besides the excellent ensemble singing by the dashing bandits there was some remarkably good solo and duet singing. Bob, chief of the bandits; Will, his secretary; and Percival, fond of his books, taking their parts splendidly.

Another pleasing number by the orchestra was "The Dream (Waltz)" by Emil Ascher, and was played just before the "Greeting to the Gypsy Queen," by Thomas Facer and given by the girls from Grades V, VI, VII, VIII.

In their gay and colorful gypsy costumes the girls formed a vivid picture, sometimes in graceful motion of short dances. They had a pretty queen in Muriel Obenaus and quite dramatic leading gypsy in Frances Pelham, both girls singing several difficult solos very nicely. One echo chorus was particularly pleasing. The program went along smoothly and without undue waiting and was very enjoyable. The entire evening of music was indeed a credit to Director Stine and his assistant, Miss Quimby, as well as to the accompanist, Miss Haas, while the children showed that they had done their part in practicing.

It is hoped by all those who enjoyed the music of last evening's program, that at the next concert, the audience do as well as the performers, and do not talk while musical numbers are being given, for by talking about their children, etc., the parents frequently upset the boys and girls taking part and keep those around them from hearing the finest part of the music.

"Perfect in Every Detail"

With infinite care our designers have considered your comfort during the hot summer months. Style too, is accented—there are six different models pictured incorporating fashion's newest dictates.

Fresh and dainty as the flowers that adorn them are these cool and crisp frocks for the Miss or Matron. The materials are dimities and prints with conventional, novel and floral patterns. There is a wide range of lovely tints trimmed in contrasting or harmonizing colors. Ecru Valenciennes lace, tiny plaitings and bindings of voile and organdie are employed with meticulous care and excellent taste as trimmings on these smart daytime frocks.

Sizes 16 to 48

A tight, fitted bodice above a very full bouffant skirt makes a lovely picture—appealing in its crisp, dainty femininity. The bodices are sleeveless with the exception of a tiny ruffle of pleating or lace—several models have just a suggestion of a cap sleeve. The collars are single and double in the Bertha style, shawl and modified tailored or Buster Brown cut. The bodice may have a laced or buttoned closing—or there may be none at all. A butterfly bow sash, a paneled front, hand embroidery and always the cleverest little pockets complete the well designed trimming.

"Jim" Watson of Indiana says he has something "on" Borah and therefore he will not have to answer the Idaho Senator's prohibition-stand quiz. It would seem to be up to Mr. Borah to demand the particulars, and, if he survives them, proceed to force Watson's tongue to wag on the burning question.

Captain Wilkins, the Australian soldier-explorer, and his American pilot have flown over the "top of the world". Though this may not be the "greatest feat of all aviation", as some observers say, it is undoubtedly one of the greatest successes in high adventure since Columbus sailed an unknown sea? What next?

One observer is of the opinion that baseball would survive even the downfall of the republic. Doubtless it would, with the American Mussolini—or whatever variety of absolute boss time has on its unseen scroll—graciously consenting to throw the ball to the pitcher and open the game, amid the deafening applause of a multitude satisfied if only sport be added to bread.

Figures are published that will gratify those far-seeing Southerners who long ago hoped for the dispersion of the negroes throughout the country, in order that the "problem" might become national and the South cease to be a continuing target of long-distance criticism. These figures show, for example, that New York already has 259,800 negroes as compared with 109,000 for Baltimore and 100,000 for New Orleans. Chicago and Philadelphia also have larger negro populations than any Southern city.

With all the reading that is being done these days and the surprising popularity of biographies and outlines and other non-fiction works, it is hard to understand why so much ballyhoo is needed to announce a new book. One New York publishing house recently introduced a travel book just off the press by giving a gorgeous dinner on the Leviathan. Authors, reviewers, editors and booksellers were present. The author of the book gave a talk, and the book was launched into the sea of literature. There was only one flaw in the program. When the party was over, the guests had to go back on shore. One of these days an enterprising publishing company will send its guests on a cruise to the scene of the latest book.

WOMEN FLYERS.

Two English women, Lady Heath and Lady Bailey, licensed air pilots, have recently flown from England to Africa alone. It is a feat not heralded on this side of the Atlantic, but it has had large results in England in encouraging women to learn to fly. The London Airplane Club, which teaches men and women to fly, reports an increasing number of women among its members. Says the chief instructor at the club: "Women are excellent pupils. Generally speaking, they make skillful and steady pilots. The time is coming when flying will displace motoring in popularity for both men and women."

So far we do not hear much about women studying aviation in this country, although there are about a dozen women licensed pilots. That will come here, however, just as it has in England. Popular interest in spectacular flying ventures from now on will be reflected in the development of plain, ordinary flying by everybody physically and mentally qualified to pilot a plane in the air.

UNFEELING ASTRONOMERS.

The average man, who unconsciously thinks of himself as the center of the universe, is not any too well pleased with the announcements of the modern astronomers, for they tend to make him feel more insignificant than he likes to feel even momentarily. The thing has been getting worse for a long time, and now here comes Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of Harvard Observatory, with the breath-taking declaration that the center of the universe is 52,000 light-years distant from the earth, or approximately 300,000,000,000,000,000 miles. By 52,000 "light-years" is meant that it takes that many years for light to reach us from the "center" traveling at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second, and what does this do to a single individual on this little planet, who, as supposed, is unanimously in the habit of regarding his precious self as the center of the universe?

No wonder the New York World complains that astronomy is showing no regard whatever for our feelings. "It has begun to prate," says the World, "of distances that make our doings seem small and cheap, and of aeons that reduce our span to the love-life of a mosquito. This piece of news is typical. How can the earth expect to get on the map and convince the world that its many activities are of supreme importance if its own citizens admit right out in public that the center of the universe is that many miles away? You can see at once where that puts us. We are not even a filling-station on the Milky Way. It seems to us that something ought to be done. We need a slogan. Something like 'I'd walk three hundred quadrillion miles to live on earth' might do. And we need strict regulation of astronomers."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

ABOUT ULTRA VIOLET RAYS.

You are reading almost daily about the ultra violet rays of the sun, and of their effect upon tubercular children, and children afflicted by "rickets" or softening of the bones.

That the alkaline reserve is kept high in the body by these rays of the sun is one of the discoveries that is helping us to appreciate something of what the sun means to all of us.

Two French physicians, investigating the effects of ultra violet rays on children, tell us that in normal children the alkalinity of the blood tends to reach the adult value.

In young children who are suffering because of faulty food, thus not getting sufficient nourishment, the severe acidesis is arrested by these rays and the wasting process stops.

It would seem that these rays affect the whole organism, because even where the child is getting the best possible food for his particular condition, it is only when subjected to these rays, does he get from these foods the real amount of nourishment they should give. You will remember that this is about the way the vitamins in the foods are thought to act. They seem to make each food strive to give its last ounce of nourishment to the body.

"Their action is not unlike the affects of a mutual friend introducing two strangers. Before the introduction each one stays by himself, has nothing to say, in fact seems unsociable in the extreme. After the introduction all that is sociable, kind, jovial, unselfish, that is naturally in each one of them, comes to the surface, and each one thinks of the other in an entirely different light. They give their best."

And these rays not only help each food to give its best, but because most of each food is used by the cells of the body, there is therefore less waste, less acidosis of the blood. And you have learned something of what it means to the body to have an increased amount of waste matter circulating throughout the system.

And now that they are discovering that certain kinds of clothing will permit these ultra violet rays of the sun to penetrate them, the day is not far distant when you will be able to get the full benefit of these wonderful rays, which make the cells of your body do the increased amount of work, thus giving you the full value of any food eaten.

In children and adults whose recovery from ailments is slow, the use of these rays from artificial lamps has proven of wonderful benefit.

WOMEN PULL STUMPS WITH ANCIENT DEVICE

Bordeaux, April 28 (AP).—A stump puller which never needed the protection of patent rights is still being used in the vineyards where grow the world famous wines of France. Women furnish the power for it and pull out the old, old roots of worn out vines.

A narrow wooden trestle, like a double ladder, supports a wooden drum on which is wound a chain. The drum is turned by two crossed wooden bars mortised on the end of it. A hook at the end of the chain is placed under the stump and the women wind up the chain. It isn't as easy as it sounds but after 30 or 40 years of such work the women develop quite a lot of muscle.

AROUND THE CITY

It isn't every chauffeur who would care to write his autobiography.

No, Maude dear; the ship's passengers don't have to wait till they are in midocean to be half seas over.

On the principle that no news is good news, it is just as reasonable to suppose that no luck is good luck.

It's a good thing to carry your religion into your daily life, yet mighty few men allow it to interfere with business.

After a man gets rich he is inclined to doubt the Biblical legend about the camel and the eye of the needle.

The cynical bachelor observes that no man realizes how many faults he has till he gets a wife to point them out to him.

Even in our search for happiness some of us are satisfied to sit down and consider that all things come to those who wait.

Strange that a woman whose gown is merely held up by shoulder straps, if any, should be so shocked at a man in shirt sleeves and suspenders.

Tommy—"Pop, what is a secret vice?" Tommy's Pop—"From a feminine point of view, my son, a secret vice is to know one and not tell it."

Bloobs—"Old Closefit is terrible near-sighted, isn't he? I wonder how he got that way." Slobbs—"I rather suspect it comes from looking out for number one."

Muggins—"Now that his wife is dead, I wonder if Brownsmith will continue to live in that big mansion of his." Buggins—"I don't know, but I size Brownsmith up as the sort of fellow who would rather get married again than move."

EPIGRAMS ON LOVE

A first-rate intellect is a third-rate lover.

In love, man's love of self increases, woman's vanishes.

Love was woman's invention, but man has exploited it.

It is not enough to be a lover. It is too much to be in love.

A woman is at home in love. A man is scarcely more than a guest.

It is sad to have to admit sometimes that the object of life is not love.

We may as well love ourselves, for we shall never find sufficient love elsewhere.

We swear to women that they are angels and then prove to them that they are fools.

We have tried to subject women to the same processes of adaptation and regulation as nature. But they have resisted more successfully.—Paul Geraldy in Vanity Fair.

ALL CORRECT

Some girls smile because they have dimples.

It is impossible to love too much; dangerous to love too many.

Most of the men who believe there should be a tax on bachelors are married.

From Acre of Wheat

The number of pounds of bread that can be made from one acre of wheat depends upon the amount of wheat raised on the acre. It requires from 4½ to 4¾ barrels of wheat to make a barrel of flour. A barrel of flour will make approximately 350 one-pound loaves of bread.

FOR THE WOMEN

Carpets are washed and dried without removal from floors with a new machine.

An Englishman has invented hollow heels for women's shoes that contain powder boxes.

Operated like an egg beater, an invention by a woman swings blades back and forth to mix pastry ingredients.

A Philadelphia inventor has patented a combined vanity box and fur neck piece for women, the box being enclosed within the jaws of the animal used.

For feeding infants or giving medicine to small children a Denver man has invented a spoon in which the handle is curved over the bowl so that a child cannot close his lips upon the latter.

BUILD HEROES' MOUND OF EARTH FROM GRAVES

Budapest, Hungary, April 28 (AP).—The government has invited all Hungarian communes to dispatch to Budapest half a kilo of earth taken from the graves of heroes and from sites of great national historical happenings. These handfuls of earth will be used to build up a "heroes' mound" in the shape of a pyramid outside Budapest, from the top of which the national flag will wave.

THISTLEDOWN

Women change their minds and men mind the change.

Life is a burden to some people, and others are a burden to life.

Most girls find it easier to salve their lips than their consciences.

There are few girls to whom sweet nothings do not mean something.

Spinal Troubles Yield To Chiropractic

The romance of "Big Timber" has been spread widely in song and story, and the log "drive" down many a Northern river has been the subject of an epic. It was on such a "drive" that L. A. Collins on April 9th, 1897, sustained the injury from which he suffered for 28 years.

Partly under water, and with three logs resting upon him, he was carried down the river for 25 minutes and over a falls before released from the crushing weight. Rescued alive, it was nearly five months before he could leave his bed, and nearly a year before he could resume any kind of work.

And then, for 28 years he was a "part-time man," suffering continuously with pains in his back, his head and his limbs. In 1925 a friend took him to a Chiropractor, and now he says:—

I cheerfully give this testimonial in the hope that others who have suffered years may find relief."—L. A. Collins, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement 2162-J. Armour Kin Pay Debt of Millions

Chicago, April 27 (AP).—In the code of the Sheffields, strict New Englanders, from which stock came the widow of J. Ogden Armour, packer, a debt was "hateful." It was a mark against the name until liquidated—dollar for dollar.

Because of that, and because "Mr. Armour would not want others to suffer in anything for which he was even indirectly responsible," Mrs. Armour and her daughter will pay more than $10,000,000 out of their personal fortunes to settle the debts of the packer.

The daughter, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, is Lolita, in childhood a cripple whose cure first attracted attention to Dr. Adolph Lorenz, the Austrian. Armour brought the surgeon to this country and the success of his treatment of the crippled child paved the way to fame in America.

Chief of Armour's obligations, when he died last summer in London, was the Sutter Basin project in California. The packer had envisioned the Sutter Basin dotted with numerous small farms inhabited by hundreds of contented families recruited from congested cities. It lies north of Sacramento, in the Feather river district.

Post-war reconstruction stopped the reclamation project, shrunk the value of of the land and left Armour and those who had invested with him with 50,000 acres that were worth millions less than had been put into them.

Speculations in sugar and investments in several activities reduced the Armour fortune, estimated in 1921 at $120,000,000, to only a fraction of that. When he died he owed Armour and Company $18,000,000. During one period of his losses Armour said he dropped a million dollars a day.

"My daughter and I feel very strongly about the responsibilities of debt, and the suffering that may devolve upon others when just debts are repudiated," remarked Mrs. Armour.

"There is not to be a single suspicion of a shadow on the name of my husband and my daughter's father. No sacrifice would be too great for that. But we do not feel it is a sacrifice. It is our privilege to do the one thing that Mr. Armour would have wanted done."

Her eyes flashed pridefully as she uttered "privilege."

After all the marketable securities in the estate of Armour are sold there still will be needed $10,000,000 to liquidate the debts. This will come from the bank accounts of Mrs. Armour and her daughter. Already the packer's widow has bought in $6,000,000 in warrants outstanding against the Sutter Basin Company, and turned them over to a new corporation.

CHURCH LISTS PSALMS TO MEET ALL MOODS

Omaha, Neb., April 28 (AP).—There is a psalm to counteract every mood, asserts the Omaha First Methodist Church.

If one is blue, discouraged, thinking of investments for instance, there is a certain psalm to bring comfort. The church has published a "Guide to The Psalms."

When in sorrow one is advised to read John 14. Other guide posts follow:

"When men fail you, read Psalm 27.

"When you have sinned, read Psalm 51.

"When you worry, read Matthew 6:19-24.

"When you are in danger, read Psalm 91.

"When you have the blues, read Psalm 34.

"When you are discouraged, read Isaiah 40.

"When you think of investments and returns, read Mark 10:17-31.

"When your faith needs stirring, read Hebrews 11.

"When you want courage for your task, read Joshua 1.

"When you leave home for or travel, read Psalm 121."

TO PRESENT COMEDY AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The three act comedy "Polly Wants a Cracker," will be presented in the chapel of the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening, May 2, by the members of the Westminster Guild of the church and their friends. The proceeds from the play will be used to defray the expenses of sending delegates to the summer conference. The play is said to be extremely funny and the young people have been rehearsing for some time and a finished performance may be expected.

Good Car Care Adds to Pleasure

Tourist's Car Must Be in Good Condition to Assure Pleasant Trip, A. A. A. Says, Outlining Points to be Considered.

Washington, D. C., April 28—Motor touring, the summer pastime of millions, is pleasant directly in proportion to the manner in which the car performs, says a statement issued today by National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association, which will serve a vast majority of the 44,000,000 who will take their annual vacations this year on the open road.

"The close relationship between the pleasure of the tour and the condition of the car should suggest to every prospective tourist the wisdom of seeing that the car is performing at its best before the trip begins," says the statement. "The need is one that is ignored by many motorists until it is brought forcibly to their attention by mechanical trouble with its attendant expense and delay."

In preparing the car for the much different conditions it will encounter on a touring trip, the owner need envision no great outlay of money for an exhaustive overhaul, says the statement. Rather, it points out, the process is one of paying a little more heed to the principal details that mark ordinarily good car care.

Battery, generator, distributor, spark plugs, valves, carburetor, fuel feed system, clutch, transmission, differential, crank case lubricant, oil filter, steering mechanism, brakes, tires, cooling system, and wheel-bearings are the units chiefly recommended by the A. A. A. emergency road system experts for attention on the eve of the tour. Summarizing the probable services that each will need, the statement says:

"Battery—Remove corrosion from terminals and inspect connections to see that they have not been eaten by the acid. Replace suspected connections. Coat terminals with vaseline or grease. Fill cells to recommended level with distilled water.

"Generator—If device is not automatically controlled as to output, have charging rate reduced for the tour. It diminishes the load on the generator, while turning on the lights serves no other purpose than to keep the battery from becoming overcharged, which is not so likely as generally believed.

"Distributor—Clean and adjust breaker points. Apply a thin film of grease to the cam.

"Spark Plugs—Clean and check points for condition and clearance. Replacement, if the plugs have seen a year's service, is generally advisable.

"Valves—It will pay to have the valves ground if this has not been done for 7,500 miles, regardless of the gasoline one uses. Valves must seat properly for efficient engine performance. For the tour, it is not wise to adjust them too closely. This means quick valve deterioration and poor performance. Look sharply for burned exhaust valves during the grinding process.

"Carburetor—Clean strainer at bottom thoroughly. If mixture is suspected of excessive richness, have it adjusted by an expert.

"Fuel Feed System—Drain traps at bottom of main gasoline tank and vacuum tank. Blow out the feed lines.

"Clutch—If the release bearing is not the self-lubricating type, take up one turn on ahe grease cup, the commonly used substitute. Be careful not to turn down the cup so far as to get grease on the plates. Slipping of the clutch is sure to follow.

"Transmission and Differential—Drain and flush case and housing and fill up with fresh lubricant.

"Crankcase—Drain out old oil, flush with light oil, and refill with the normal—not heavy—lubricant unless the car is accustomed to that grade.

"Oil Filter—Inspect the cartridge or straining unit. If it has seen 10,000 miles of service and is the non-cleanable type, buy a new one.

"Steering—Check for wear, looseness, or binding, and lubricate thoroughly. Hours at a wheel that works hard are exceptionally fatiguing and dangerous.

"Brakes—Check for wear on linings and positiveness of equalization. Strange roads and high speds call for perfect brakes.

"Tires—Don't tempt fate with tires that are badly worn. Wear out the old ones in day-to-day service not on the tour. Higher speeds call for higher tire pressure. From three to five pounds over the normal is essential."

Caused Change of Mind

We have come across a fine testimony to the power of advertising. Some people went to inspect a house which had been offered for sale. "We saw the advertisement," they said. "Yes," answered the owner, "so did we, and after reading the ad writer's description of our house we have decided not to sell!"—Toronto Globe.

Payrolls Cut in New York State

Albany, April 28.—Throughout the first quarter of the year 1928, total weekly payrolls in factories of New York state were lower than during the first three months of any year since 1922, said Industrial Commissioner James A. Hamilton today. It is true that payrolls have receded less rapidly in the last five years than has employment. Nevertheless total weekly payrolls in all the factories of the state were approximately three and one-half million dollars lower in March, 1928, than in March, 1923, and over two million dollars lower than in March a year ago. These estimates are based on monthly reports from a fixed list of 1,650 manufacturing concerns representing various industries and employing more than a third of all the factory workers in the state.

Average Wages Advance.

Total factory payrolls in March were ten per cent lower than they were five years ago, while the number of workers employed in factories was twenty per cent lower. The rise in average per capita earnings which these figures indicate has been fairly constant since 1922. It is due partly to a rise in actual wage rates. It may result also from the dismissal of low paid workers. In periods of decreasing employment it often happens that the lower paid workers are laid off first with the result that the average wage of those remaining is higher although no one of them is receiving more than he did before.

No Improvement This Year.

There is some evidence that competition from unemployed workers may be tending to reduce average earnings at the present time. Certainly there has been no marked rise in earnings within the last year. The highest point was reached in March, 1927, when average weekly earnings in the representative factories rose to $29.78. After the midsummer quiet, earnings advanced again in the fall but stopped twenty-one cents below the March, 1927, figure. In January, February and March of this year average weekly earnings have been, in each case, lower than they were in the corresponding months of last year. In March they were $29.64.

Payrolls and Purchasing Power.

The decline in per capita earnings is too slight to be alarming in itself. However, it does tend to augment the decline in total factory payrolls. And factory payrolls make up an important part of the funds from which manufactured products are purchased. The level of factory employment is falling and with it there has been a gradual decline in factory payrolls. It is going to require a strong offsetting influence to absorb the workers who are no longer needed by manufacturing industries and to maintain the purchasing power of these workers.

The productive capacity of our manufacturing industries is great, and therefore their prosperity is dependent on maintaining the consuming capacity of the public. A decline of over two million dollars a week in factory payrolls since last year must affect the consuming power of the public.

DEATH CLAIMS INTREPID FLYER

Floyd Bennett, one of the world's most noted flyers, succumbed to pneumonia in Quebec, thus ending a brilliant career all to soon. His gallant feat of rising from a sick bed at Detroit to answer the distress cry of the Bremen was the cause of his contracting the illness. Upper left is an excellent photo of Bennett wearing the Congressional Medal of Honor which was awarded him for his part in Commander Byrd's North Pole flight. Upper right he is being presented with the Hubbard Medal by President Coolidge. Below he is seen with Secretary Wilbur, Commander Byrd and President Coolidge at the time when the Medal of Honor was conferred on him at Washington, D. C.

SACCO-VANZETTI TRIAL DRAMATIZED IN GERMAN

Gotha, Germany, April 28 (AP).—The stirring days of the Sacco-Vanzetti trial at Boston have come to life here in a drama, "Sacco and Vanzetti," produced by the Gotha state theatre under the stage management of G. R. Sellner.

The drama, a tragedy in three acts from the pen of Willem Reupke, attempts to dramatize the story of the famous Italian radicals who were executed last August. Judge Fuller is the tragic hero. He is described as a man who, despite his human sympathies, must order the execution of the "anarchists" because they stand for a natural right that is in conflict with social laws.

Next in importance to the role of Fuller is that of Vanzetti, played by Karl Kendzia, while Sacco is only secondary. The role of Vanzetti's sister as interpreted by Kaethe Wolf, was the surprise of the evening and revealed unusual talent on the part of an actress hitherto but little known.

Shakespeare's Vocabulary

The wealth of Shakespeare's vocabulary, says Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, is staggering. It consists of 24,000 words, compared with Milton's 17,000, the Bible's 7,000, Homer's 9,000 and Dante's 5,000. Shakespeare actually used more words than any other known author. Of these words 5,000 were only used once. Also in "Hamlet" there are 436 words which appear in no other play.

ASSAULT PHONE EXCHANGE WHEN CONNECTION FAILS

Tientsin, April 28 (AP).—Verbal abuse of telephone "centrals" when connections are not forthcoming is for General Li Yun-chang an inadequate way to express exasperation.

This warlord, who commands the thirty-fifth division of General Chu Yu-pu's ill-disciplined Chihli army, had trouble getting a connection through the Tientsin head office exchange. After exhausting a stock of expletives learned in the rugged Shantung mountains, General Li sent soldiers of his bodyguard to the exchange to show that he was not to be trifled with. The soldiers assaulted several Chinese operators, smashed equipment and interrupted service for more than three hours of a busy afternoon.

The exchange is in Chinese territory just outside the boundary of the Italian concession, but it serves a large portion of the foreign areas. The Chinese operators could not be persuaded to return to their posts until the company's foreign engineers arrived, took charge and made the necessary repairs.

Dictator Chang Tso-lin at Peking has ordered an investigation of the affair.

A cynic is a man who believes that a man doesn't have to be a bigamist to have one wife too many.

"Home Brew" in Belgium

Home brewing, frowned on by prohibitionists and agents of the law in these United States, is still considered in Belgium just as necessary and moral as baking bread. In many secluded monasteries beer is still made by the monks just as they did in the Middle ages. In one, the monastery of Saint Sixte, at Poperinghe, the monks are not allowed to speak to one another.—Indianapolis Star.

Miserable Agriculturist

One of the oldest references to agriculture is on a papyrus describing the work of an Egyptian gardener, "who brings loads of produce, and his arms and neck ache beneath them. At noon he waters the onions and in the evening the vines. His is more miserable than any other calling."

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Sweaters Know No Age Distinctions—Even the Kiddies at Cannes Wear Them with Abbreviated Pleated Crepe Skirts

Cannes, France—That the youngsters, both boys and girls, are dressed in woolen sweaters is a note from Cannes that may be heard throughout the summer. Little girls of the age of six wear abbreviated pleated crepe skirts, of the basic tone of their sweaters. Yellow seems to be a beloved color, for when one looks down on groups of children playing in the sands, yellow immediately becomes impressive.

Most of the sweaters are in jacquard weave, and often there are sweaters brilliant with color contrasts, but naturally in small designs. Apparently the sweater is an ageless garment, worn from the cradle to old age, and in good taste for all but the fat, on whom, unless great care to get it sufficiently large is taken, it becomes a fatal error and a cause for jest.

Angora wools in pastel shades are charming for the youngster, who varies her wardrobe with cunning little jersey dresses, usually with contrasting collar and cuffs and sometimes with skirt to match these, instead of the sweater proper.

Dressing the younger girl has become a simplified problem since crepe de Chine has come into such general use. She wears it for everything from her tennis dress to the dress in which she goes to a party, although for such an occasion she has the choice of net, taffeta, and chiffon, in the order named. Ruffled net dresses are delightfully youthful. Pale green is one of the newer tones for the jeunne fille.

Centrals to Open Season With Band And Big Parade

Newly Organized Baseball Team That Will Represent Central Business Association Swings Into Action on Saturday, May 5, with Pittsfield.

The Central Baseball Club, which will represent the Central Business Association, will formally open the baseball season at the Athletic Field on Saturday afternoon, May 5, with the Pittsfield Professionals, and the event will be marked with a band concert and a big parade through the city streets. Plans for the opening of the baseball season were discussed and arranged at a meeting of the Central Business Association on Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Jack Robins, former catcher of the Colonials, will do the backstopping for the Centrals and is also manager of the new baseball team which will be made up of local players only. At the meeting Friday Manager Robins stated that he had nineteen men trying out for various berths on the team and that they would carry twelve or thirteen men throughout the season.

The new uniforms for the Centrals have been received by William O'Reilly, the Broadway sporting goods dealer, and are very natty. They are a dark gray in color with the word Central in black letters across the breast.

The Centrals plan to play at the Athletic Field every Saturday afternoon during the season. Season tickets costing $5 each will be sold to help defray expenses of conducting the team, and the association appointed a committee Friday evening to go out and sell these season tickets.

Manager Robins says that on Sunday, May 6, the Centrals would play Middletown at Middletown and the following Saturday would play the West New York Red Socks at the Athletic Field. Other games are being booked as fast as possible.

The association decided to open the season with a bang and will engage a band to furnish music for the big parade and also to play at the Athletic Field between innings. The Centrals will also take part in the parade which will proceed through the principal streets of the city and then disband at the Athletic Field. Efforts will be made to have Mayor E. J. Dempsey throw over the first ball.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

A combination of adverse weather and fortuitous hitting had placed new leaders at the top of both major leagues today.

New York's Giants and Yankees were forced to remain idle yesterday and see themselves shunted into second place in their respective league standings.

The opportune hitting was done by Brooklyn and Cleveland and enabled the Robins to oust the Giants from the National League crest while the Indians were doing the same thing to Babe Ruth and company in the American.

"Jumbo Jim" Elliott gave up only three hits in Brooklyn's 9 to 0 victory over the Boston Braves at the Hub. Greenfield and Morrison were nicked for 10 safe blows, including home runs by Bissonette, Riconda and Henline. These circuit drives, accounting for six of the Dodgers' runs, all landed in the new left field bleachers at Braves' Field, which has become somewhat of a paradise for the boys who hit them into the air but fairly far. Hornsby and Burrus returned to the Braves' lineup after being out for a day with bad colds, but their presence had no effect on the final result.

George Uhle registered his fourth straight win of the season as the Indians routed Detroit at Cleveland, 10 to 6. The Tigers hit Uhle hard in the first inning, scoring five runs, but the Indians came back with seven in the second and third. Uhle held the Tigers in hand then until the ninth when Hargrave hit a home run. With two out Uhle was removed and Bayne finished the game.

At St. Louis, the Browns frolicked to a 14-5 verdict over the Chicago White Sox. Sam Gray turned in his fourth victory in five starts for the Browns, holding the Sox scoreless until the ninth, when an error and six straight hits gave them five tallies. Every Brown got one hit at least. Manush contributing a homer to the cause.

The Chicago Cubs fell victim on their home lot to Jess Haines and the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 2. Haines allowed nine hits but kept them scattered. Seven Cubs expired on strikes. Toporcer and Andy High were in the Cardinal infield in place of Bottomley and Holm, who are suffering from slight attacks of influenza.

Rain caused postponement of the National League games between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia and New York as well as of the Washington-Philadelphia game in the American. The Yankees and Boston Red Sox decided it was too cold to play at New York.

CLERMONTS TO OPEN AGAINST BLUE SOX

The Clermont baseball team will open its season against the Blue Sox at Hasbrouck Park Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Both teams have been getting in shape for the meeting for the past month and the outcome is expected to be a fast game. Present indications point to a large assemblage to see the game.

Jack Dunn is slated to do the hurling for the Clermonts with J. Houghtaling on the receiving end. The infield will be made up of Vic Spait, 1b.; Leo Vertetics, 2b.; H. Houghtaling, ss.; Viv Fisher, 3b.; Luke Matheia, Corman, Hicks, Krom, Friez and Hafer will take care of the outer garden.

The Blue Sox have not announced their candidates for the battery positions, but it is expected that the hurler will be picked from this array: Williams, Krostek, Huber and Woijac. Tomeseski, regular catcher, will likely do the receiving.

In this game both teams will show their new uniforms for the first time this season. They purchased them from the Charles A. Warren sporting goods store.

Collett Stands High

Glenna Collett stands head and shoulders above the feminine golfers of the Metropolitan district, in the opinion of the Women's Metropolitan Golf association. On the 1928 handicap list of the association, the former national champion is rated at 2 plus. Miss Collett is rated quite by herself. No other player is within two strokes of her.

Albert Krikt, a young outfielder from Washington, has been signed by Manager Joe Neptune for his Frederick Hustlers of the Blue Ridge league. He was given an early trial by Atlanta of the Southern league.

Fred G. Somers, former International and Eastern league first sacker, has been appointed manager of the Petersburg club of the revamped Virginia league. Somers had a shot at it in the National league at one time.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press).

New York—As the outcome of a proposal made by telephone from San Francisco to New York there is to be a wedding in Honolulu shortly. Warren Paulsen of Brooklyn, on a tour, called up Miss Eva Hewitt of Jackson Heights. She is now on her way to Hawaii and is going around the world on a honeymoon.

Berlin—Would German girls marry Baron von Huenefeld? Two-thirds of those answering newspaper queries says that his work is too dangerous for a husband—his flying, not his poetry.

Boston—When a Middy has a black eye his sweetheart gets a kick. So says Spike Webb, Navy boxing coach. The girls like to attend academy bouts just before the dances there and are highly pleased if their escorts at the hops display signs of battle.

Paris—The fair Helen is torn twixt love and duty. "If I didn't need practice so badly, I would spend the entire day in the Rue De La Paix," said Miss Wills. So she has been shopping two hours daily and practicing one hour.

New York—Clarence Dillon, financier, is back from abroad where he pursued his hobbies—cattle breeding and art. Yes, he's an authority on real cattle as well as on metaphorical bulls and bears.

Peking—In the harem of Marshall Chang Tsung-Chang, provincial governor at Tsinan, are several dozen young women, some of them Russian and Chinese, with modern education. His palace is fitted up luxuriously. It has steam heat. Silverware and cut glass alone cost $25,000.

Los Angeles—Women, in the opinion of Dr. Charles Mayo, who is here on a vacation, are getting shorter because of automobile riding. Also high heels are causing them to lose their calves. The doctor proved by strapping thick cork blocks on his own heels and trying to walk. They make his calves useless.

Newark, N. J.—Popular fellow, that Walter Johnson of the Newark Internationals. The town of Milburn claims him as a resident, because it taxes his house. Maplewood says he can't get out of his street without passing through Maplewood; also he gets his mail via Maplewood; and Maplewood wants Walter, Jr., for its high school ball team.

Morristown, Pa.—The crew of a Naval balloon owe their lives to some convicts. Caught in a squall, the balloon threw out ropes when over a prison farm. Several dozen men grabbed them willingly and were dragged across two fields before the bag was brought down.

New York—The most wonderful thing Alfred Loewenstein, Belgain financier, has seen in this country is his newspaper publicity. "There are many, many Americans far richer than I, believe me," he protests.

Tides of Puget Sound Enormous in Volume

Puget sound, the many-branched inlet of the Pacific ocean, is one of the most picturesque bodies of water in this country. Its shores, once densely wooded, have been denuded for the most part by the lumberman's ax, but the neighboring mountains offset this loss and afford a wonderful background to the scene. Although the natural beauties are many, the treacherous waters of the Narrows, a contracted part of the sound which opens farther south into quiet bays and the ports of Olympia and Shelton, are feared by all who are acquainted with that locality. The tides are extreme and their ebb and flow causes a rush of water through the Narrows.

Twenty-five or thirty miles above the Narrows, in the upper reaches of the sound, the tides attain a height of twenty feet or more. Viewed from the shore, which is generally precipitous, the surging of the water as the tide sets in is magnificent, but this is the scene of many tragedies which occur each year. Tremendous whirlpools are formed in the slender passage and rarely have rowboats and such small craft escaped when gripped in the swirling water. Even large steamboats creak and groan under the strain of breasting these twisting currents. The roar of the tides when running at full resembles the distant boom of the surf.

Rich Russian Territory

Ukraine has a territory of 174,510 square miles, with a population of 26,001,802. It constitutes the southwest division of European Russia and is the richest and most densely populated part of the whole empire. It is a great wheat-growing district and Odessa is a most important grain shipping port. There are also large deposits of gold and iron.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

KNOWING WHAT YOU WANT

NOT long ago I listened to a conversation between a young man who wanted a job on a newspaper and the editor to whom he applied for it.

"I don't think you want this job," said the editor.

"But I am certain I do, sir, positive," returned the applicant.

"Do you know anything about newspaper work?"

"Not much."

"Do you know that it means longer hours and more intensive application than any other kind of work?"

"I didn't, but even if it does I still—"

"Do you know that the same expenditure of intelligence and energy in many other professions will bring you greater returns—that unless you have unusual good fortune you must, on a newspaper, work for a salary—and probably a small one, all your life?"

"No sir, but even if this is true I—"

"Do you know that in a city where there are big opportunities for thousands of lawyers and doctors and merchants, there are only dozens of big opportunities for journalists?"

"Are you trying to discourage me?"

"Yes."

"Then you have no position for me."

"I didn't say that. Come back here in a week, and tell me if you still want a job."

* * *

The boy has not come back. He probably will not come back. Which proves that he really did not want to be a journalist.

Had he had the real desire, without which no man could succeed, nobody and nothing could have discouraged him.

There are some men who are born for some jobs, and they know it by some sort of instinct.

If they can't get into these jobs by the front door they will try the back door, and if the back door is locked they will come in through the window or down the chimney.

And after they are in, although discouragements multiply, they will remain, and watch their chance till they get the promotion, or the opportunity to prove themselves entitled to promotion, that they want.

Those people succeed—if their health holds out.

Why? Not always because they are especially fitted for the jobs.

But because they like the work and would rather do it than play.

And what counts still more is their determination.

* * *

There is the great driving force that counts more than anything else.

It is almost an axiom that the determined must win.

They can even win over those better qualified who lack determination.

For the qualified are sometimes temperamental and easy to discourage, and that is always a fatal quality.

The four mile a minute run made in the United States was in 1836 on the Boston & Maine railroad. The engineer's name was Pemberton. Mr. Minot, the superintendent, and the engineer made this trip. Financial and Commercial

New York, April 28 (AP).—Heavy buying of the oil shares under the leadership of Standard Oil of New York, which advanced 3 points to 38, a new high for the year, featured the sharp upturn in prices in today's stock market. Public utility and mining shares also gave impressive demonstrations of group strength. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 10 points, with trading again in heavy volume.

Buying operations of powerful speculative pools furnished the chief impetus for the advance. Oils were accumulated on reports of trade improvement and stiffening gasoline prices. Enormous blocks of Standard Oil of New York and Louisiana Oil changed hands.

Buying of the rails was rather selective in character with Jersey Central, Delaware and Hudson, Texas and Pacific and Chicago Northwestern up 2 to 4 points, in the vanguard of the advance.

Sharp gains also were recorded by such issues as McCrory stores B, Du Pont, Adams Express, Patino Mines, Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Edison, Westinghouse Electric and Otis Elevator.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

Charm and Ability Handicap to Asquith

Lord Castelrose, writing on the death of Lord Asquith, dealt with the erudition of the Asquith family and said: "I could give you many examples of this. Years before the newspapers started their general knowledge questions Mr. Anthony Asquith invented a game of plying his father with strange and outlandish queries, and yet so great was Lord Oxford's erudition that I can hardly remember him failing over a fair question. I once heard Mr. Anthony Asquith persuade his father to recite backwards the Derby winners for the last 32 years, which he did accurately; to describe the duties of an official of the college of heralds; and also to give a brief description of a minor character in Max Beerbohm's "Zuleika Dobson." Elsewhere Lord Castlerose wrote: "It is true that Asquith was making a name for himself as a scholar in his youth, but unfortunately he was earning no money. One day Lord Portsmouth wrote the famous master, Reverend Doctor Jowett, and said: 'Have you got a suitable undergraduate to read with my son, Lord Lymington, during the long vacation?'" Doctor Jowett replied that he had exactly the article required, in the shape of Mr. Asquith. As a tutor Mr. Asquith was a great success, but there was a drawback in having this handsome, penniless, clever young man in a household, for every single young lady in the countryside fell head-over-heels in love with him to the consternation of the matchmaking mothers. At last Doctor Jowett was communicated with again, and asked if he could not substitute a less clever, less attractive and less amusing tutor.—Pierre Van Passen, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Claim to Veneration Not Conferred by Age

The young will be ready to learn from the old in proportion as their teaching is not thrust upon them. We all have to be learners till the day of our death, and we learn most from one another. If the young see that the old are as anxious to learn as they are to teach, they will be ready to listen to them, but there is no room now for the attitude of superior wisdom which tries to impose experience and knowledge. It is foolish to claim attention and veneration on the ground of years only. The weakness of old age should be treated tenderly, just as all other weakness is treated, but to claim attention simply because of years which may have been spent in lazy acquiescence to existing standards and conditions is unjustifiable. The wisdom which life has given to those who have always been learning will make itself felt and will be recognized, it need not be asserted.—Exchange.

"Forestry Week"

In 1920, the idea of devoting a week annually to an educational campaign in the interest of forests originated in the Pacific Northwest. At first this week was called "Forest Protection Week." In 1921, President Harding brought the federal government behind the idea and issued a proclamation. Since that time such a week has been observed each year.

Ballet Artistes Plunge to Death

Moscow, April 28 (AP).—Agrenna Koreleva and Natalie Aksenova, beautiful ballet artistes, each aged twenty, gave a tragic touch last night to the latest revolutionary ballet called "Red Poppy" when they plunged to death from the uppermost flies of the stage in full view of the public and as the curtain was about to fall.

Both girls, their hands tied, crashed in mid-stage as the thunderous revolutionary hymn, the Internationale, was played by the orchestra.

Fellow artists expressed belief that the ballet dancers had formed a suicide pact growing out of an unusual romance. They said that the girls had fallen in love with a scenery painter, Kuriiko, who lately has become renowned for his art. Devoted to each other and yet both desperately in love with the painter, it was thought that they preferred a common death as the best way out of the situation.

SMOKERS CAUSED MANY FIRES IN STATE FORESTS.

Percentage of Roadside Fires In April Was Very Large.

Albany April 30.—Up to April 20, 217 forest fires in the state burned over 9,442 acres, caused $31,300, damage and cost the state $3,235 to extinguish.

More than half of the total number of fires, 116, were caused by smokers, the great majority of them resulting from burning cigarettes tossed from automobiles into dry grass along the highway. In most instances these fires were discovered before they had a chance to get under much headway otherwise the loss would have been greater than it was. The other causes of fires and the number under each head, were:

Railroads	36
Burning brush	28
Hunters	19
Children	5
Campers	4
Burning buildings	3
Hikers	3
Fishermen	2
Boiling sap	1

The district reporting the largest number of fires was the eighth, which comprises the counties of Rockland, Orange and Sullivan, which had sixty fires; the next was district No. 11, Suffolk county with fifty-seven fires and the third district No. 7 which comprises all of Rensselaer and Columbia counties and those portions of of Washington and Saratoga not included in the Adirondack fire towns, which had fifty.

Of the total acreage burned 7,445 acres was waste land and 1,997 acres was timber. The total value of the timber burned being $3,900.

Fires ranged in size from one acre to several hundred acres and about two-thirds of the entire property damage was caused by one fire near Binghamton which burned over fifty acres, destroying property worth $20,000 and required 300 men to extinguish. This fire started on the farm of Merton Bauder where a man was employed trimming the orchard and burning the dead limbs cut off. After his brush fire was apparently extinguished some sparks remaining in an old stump were blown by the high wind into the grass and before the fire could be extinguished, burned a house and barn belonging to Charles Chamberlin and a barn belonging to the Endicott Johnson Corporation.

Judge M. B. Patterson of the Children's Court of Rockland county on April 21 closed the woods to a Valley Cottage boy of twelve for starting a forest fire. An investigation by the Conservation Department traced several serious fires to boys with the result that one has been debarred from going into the woods and four more have been ordered to appear in Children's Court on similar charges.

Lizards That "Fly"

Natives of Boa and Badu, coastal islands of Australia, are reporting experiences with flying lizards. They brought one in for a missionary to examine and he found the creature had a parchment-like skin stretched from body to forelegs.

Experiments showed the reptile actually could volplane from tree tops of considerable height with uncanny accuracy. Natives say it will not attack the passerby if it is seen but if one takes one's eyes from the creature before out of its range of flight, one hears a faint hiss and almost instantly feels sharp claws in the back.

The natives previously had brought to the missionary a snake which can run forward or backward with equal ease.

Discordant Note

The bureau of standards says that Helmholtz' explanation of why a discordant musical note will offend the ear is as follows: The essence of dissonance consists merely in very rapid beats or changes in intensity of the sound. Two consonant tones flow as quietly side by side in an undisturbed stream; dissonant tones cut each other up into separate pulses. These pulses may be too rapid for the ear to separate, but their existence may be demonstrated. The nerves of hearing feel these rapid beats as rough and unpleasant because every intermittent excitement of any nervous apparatus affects us more powerfully than one that lasts unaltered.

Polish Airmen on Mysterious Flight

Le Bourget, France, April 28 (AP).—The Polish airmen, Major Louis Idzikowski and Major Casimir Kubala, who hopped off early today for an unknown destination, landed at Abberille this afternoon because of a break in the radiator of their machine.

The aviators notified authorities at Le Bourget of their landing, and added that they were not returning to that place tonight.

When the fliers took off this morning, their destination was not known, and there were rumors of a possible transatlantic attempt. It was also stated that they were merely making an additional test of their plane, which had already performed satisfactorily on various long distance flights.

Abberille is about 100 miles north of Paris.

Insurgent D. A. R. Must Defend Self

Boston, April 28 (P)—Mrs. Helen Tufts Bailie, direct descendant of a Revolutionary hero and leader of an insurgent group within the Daughters of the American Revolution, is faced with the necessity of defending herself against formal charges seeking to remove or suspend or oust her from that organization.

The woman who recently exposed the existence in this state of a "blacklist" against numerous well known public persons for their views alleged in opposition to D. A. R. national policies, declared she would "fight to the end."

The charges against her were contained in a petition filed with the national board of management of the organization and signed by 18 [illegible] including Mrs. Sarah E. Guernsey, honorary president general, and Agnes Holton Banks, vice president general, and five state regents.

Mrs. Bailie is charged with having conducted herself in a way "calculated to disturb the harmony and injure the good name of the national society."

Cactus Apples for Candy

Near San Fernando, Calif., is a large farm, devoted to the raising of cactus apples, the pulpy product of one of the species of the familiar desert plant. The apple is used for the making of jellies and candies, or is eaten in its natural state. It has a sweet taste, and is about 85 per cent water. Brief Meeting of Education Board

Committee Authorized to Advertise for Bids for Addition to School 6—Requests for Use of High School Auditorium.

A brief meeting of the board of education was held at the High School Friday evening with Vice-President Beeres presiding in the absence of President Flemming. Routine business was transacted and Trustee Beeres for the building committee reported that work would be carried on as rapidly as possible on the addition to School No. 6. The board authorized the committee to advertise for bids as soon as the plans are completed and approved so that the work might be expedited and the congested condition at No. 6 relieved.

The meeting was attended by Trustees Beeres, Betz, Brinnier, Hayes, Terry, Katz and Mathews.

Several requests were made for use of the High School auditorium and the requests were granted subject to the usual terms. The Schubert Choral Club asked for the auditorium for the annual spring concert on May 11. The Mendelssohn Club also requested the use of the auditorium for their spring concert on May 18 and also for a brief rehearsal in the afternoon. The request was granted as the rehearsal will be held after school hours. The American Legion, other fraternal and patriotic organizations asked for permission to use the grounds at the rear of the High School for the Memorial Day exercises and also asked that the High School auditorium be available in case of rain. Granted.

The Federated Council of Parent-Teachers' Associations asked for use of the auditorium for their 14th annual spring conference of the Poughkeepsie District during the day of May 1. Granted.

Permission was also granted the Ulster County Council Girl Scouts to use the auditorium on the evening of June 8 for an entertainment for the benefit of the local council.

A request was received from the Kingston High School Athletic Association for use of the gym on the evening of May 19 for dancing following their vaudeville show. The request was granted for dancing until 11:30. Mr. Beers appointed Mrs. Hayes and Trustee Brinnier chaperons, but Mr. Brinnier requested to be relieved as did Trustees Mathews and Terry. President Flemming was named with Mrs. Hayes and a third chaperon from the school faculty will be appointed.

The matter of chaperons brought to the attention of the board the question of whether it would not be better to have a member of the school faculty present at each of these events. The members of the board felt that they were not acquainted with the students and they were not competent to judge who was a student and who was not and as a result a great many outsiders who were not eligible to attend school functions often attended. The board felt that a member of the faculty who is more or less familiar with the students should also attend social gatherings and act with the chaperons from the board in the conduct of the affairs. A rule of the board makes it necessary for the board to chaperon such affairs.

Trustee Katz, for the finance committee, offered the payroll for April, amounting to $28,304.60, and bills for the month amounting to $2,649.85.

Work at School No. 6.

Trustee Beers reported that plans for the four room addition to No. 6 were in progress of preparation and they would shortly be submitted to the state board for approval. He asked that the building committee be authorized to solicit bids as soon as the plans are completed and approved so that work might be rushed through without delay. Trustee Brinnier amended the motion that the building committee solicit bids and that the bids be submitted to the board as a whole for consideration. The motion as amended was passed.

The building will be two stories and basement in height with two rooms on each upper floor.

Trustee Brinnier asked if it were necessary to go to the expense of advertising for bids for such a job. He was informed that it was the only satisfactory manner in which all of the contractors could be notified. An attempt to solicit bids without advertising would probably result in one or more contractors being overlooked and dissatisfaction would result. By advertising for bids all contractors would receive public notice.

Mrs. Betz for the supplies committee offered the resolution authorizing the supplies committee to purchase in the open market janitor's supplies. These supplies are made up of a vast quantity of small items not procurable in any one line and it is impossible to ask for bids. The committee was authorized to purchase in the open market from time to time.

The matter of new tubes in number two boiler at the high school was brought to the attention of the board. These tubes have been in use since 1915 and are in need of replacement. They will last until the summer vacation but must then be replaced. The matter was referred to the building committee to investigate and report back at the next meeting.

A general survey of the school property will be made by the building committee within the next few days to determine what work will be necessary during the summer vacation period.

The board then adjourned.

OVER AN INCH OF SNOW FELL IN CITY DURING NIGHT.

Friday afternoon and evening a rainstorm broke over the city falling steadily until about 3 o'clock this morning when the temperature dropped and the rain changed to snow and over an inch of snow fell. As the morning advanced the weather moderated and the snow again changed to rain, making the walking very sloppy with nearly an inch and a half of slush and snow on the sidewalks. A snowstorm on April 28 is rather unusual.

An Investment for the Future
—a Six of Long Life and Advanced Design

Judged by even the most critical standards, the New Series Pontiac Six is months—even years—ahead of its field. Its style is the height of fashion—achieved with low, graceful, modish lines—emphasized by magnificent new bodies by Fisher.

Its big, economical motor has the G-M-R cylinder head, for smoothness, power, snap and speed. It introduces the cross-flow radiator into the low-price field for elimination of engine cooling cares. It has every other really worthwhile feature that progressive engineering has devised! And in addition, it has that great fundamental which has been the basis of Pontiac's ever-growing success—the great fundamental of long life!

As a result the Pontiac Six will continue to assure owners a resale value which is the marvel of the industry. When you buy a Pontiac Six you know you are getting—not only a car that is new today—but a six so advanced in style and engineering, so famous for long life that its inherent value will always be consistently high!
